From the Whitehall Evening Poſt, Auguſt 7. Extract of a Letter from the Hague, Auguſt 10. N. S.

IT appears plainly by every Step the Porte has taken, that it was ſolely againſt her Will to have a Rupture with Ruſſia. The Grand Signior has terrible Apprehenſions of ſome fatal Revolution in his Empire, having two powerful Enemies on his Back, whilſt an inteſtine Faction preys at the ſame time on his Vitals. The Grand Vizir ſet out from Conſtantinople to head the Army againſt Ruſſia, with a Pomp which could have become a Conqueror returning in Triumph from a Battle, with ſuch Acclamations the Troops likewiſe received him; but with all this Pageantry the Moment he got to his Tent he ſent for Sir Everard Fawkener, and Mr. Calkoen their High Mightineſſes Ambaſſador, and, without any reſerve diſcloſed the State of the Ottoman Affairs to them, expreſſing the great Confidence he placed in his Britannick Majeſty and the States General, whom he conſidered as his only true and faithful Friends; that he accordingly implored the Mediation of the Two Powers, and to give them a Proof of his pacifick Intentions, and the Deſire he had to prevent all Effuſion of Blood, he would repoſe in their Hands the Deciſion of the Grievances on both ſides.

Their High Mightineſſes having been made acquainted with this Affair, heſitated a Moment to learn the Deſigns of his Britannick Majeſty in relation to it, and have now ſent Orders to their Ambaſſador to act in every thing in concert with Sir Everard Fawkener. They aſſure the Grand Vizir in the Letter which they have lately wrote him in anſwer to his, that, as Friends of the Two Powers at War, they will labour with Zeal to adjuſt their Diſputes, and bring about an Accommodation. 'Tis certain the Grand Signior, who is unacquainted with what is on the other ſide the Cards, fears extremely to be attack'd by the Emperor, but the Sultan is very ſafe on that ſide, for 'tis no Secret, that neither France nor Spain will ſtand ſtill and ſee the Ottoman Power ruined; and our Letters from Vienna aſſure poſitively that Mr. du Thiel has communicated to the Emperor's Miniſters, the Sentiments of the King his Maſter on this head.

LONDON, Auguſt 7,

Samuel Wright, Eſq: who died laſt Week at Newingron, was interred laſt Night at St. Alphage near Sion College in a private Manner: He has left to ſix Nonconformiſt Miniſters, of good Life and Converſation, that are not worth 200 l. each in the World, 100 l. to each. The above Charities to each of the Prisons and Poor, is to be paid and distributed as upon Examination and in Discretion his Executors shall judge best, and not otherwise.

Mr Wright, after his several Legacies are paid, has left the Surplus to be distributed and paid to the Widows or Orphans of Nonconformist Ministers, not being any of them at such time of Distribution worth upwards of 100 l in the World, and the Widows being then upwards of 50 Years of Age, to be paid in such Proportions, and to such Numbers only, be the same more or less, as his Executors shall agree to, and judge meet and fit: And has appointed Mr. Thomas Glegg, Mr. Joseph Paice, and Mr Joseph Speed, Executors of this his Last Will.

He has also left his Estates in the Counties of Leicester and Northampton to his Cozen, Mr. John Wright, Son of Mr Arthur Wright, of Creke in Northamptonshire, and to his Heirs, with the following remarkable Clause added to the Words of the Devise, viz. "For ever hop-"ing, expecting and desiring, that the Possessors thereof "will, at all Times, do the best Service they can for the "true Interest of their Country and the Protestant Reli-"gion."

He has likewise left his Estates in the Parish of Bow, near Old-Ford in Middlesex, to Mr Thomas Glegg, repeating the same Clause

He has given Legacies to his several Tenants, and 20 l. to the Parson of Lubenham in Leicestershire, and 30 l. to the Dissenting Minister at Harborough in that County

He has likewise left 500 l to Roger Jennings, Esq; and considerable Legacies to all his Relations.

August 10 The Military Preparations of the Court of Spain, and her Conduct at this Juncture in attempting to oppose the general Peace, attract the Eyes of Europe. Our Letters from all Parts confirm, that the French were to begin the 10th Instant, N S to execute the new Convention for evacuating the Milanese, and that they will have wholly quitted the said Dutchy by the latter End of this Month or the Beginning of the next; whilst on the other hand, the Spaniards in Tuscany expect daily a Reinforcement of Troops from Naples, the Pope having already given the necessary Orders for their Accommodation in their Rout through the Ecclesiastical Territories.

The Czarina triumphs at Petersburg for the Success of her Arms in Tartary; and equally Great on all Occasions, seems not to have acquir'd more Reputation in the Glory of her Conquests, than in the Magnificence she gives to celebrate them. Count Munich has extended his Victories upwards of a hundred Leagues from Asoph, and made several thousand Prisoners, and laid the whole Country under Contribution But in the midst of this Career, her Czarina Majesty having Intelligence that the Grand Vizier, at the Head of 100,000 Men, had passed the Danube, advancing towards Bender, to make an Invasion into Ukrania, she had dispatched an Express to that General to return immediately with his Troops, leaving strong Garrisons in the fortified Places, and then to join Count Lascy in order to give Battle to the Turks: But her Czarian Majesty has added however to Count Munich's Instructions, that in case the Grand Vizir should propose a Suspension of Arms, he might accept it, to learn if he had any Offers to make with relation to Peace.

Her Czarian Majesty, by her Prime Minister Count Osterman; has lately declared to the Imperial Ambassador at Petersburg, and to Messrs Rondeau and Swart, the British and Dutch Residents, "That she had learned "with great Satisfaction, that their Imperial and Britan-"nick Majesties and the States General, were disposed to "employ their Mediation to accommodate the Differences "subsisting between her and the Porte; that she would "accept, without any Reserve, the good Offices of those "Powers, were not the Ravages and Insults which the "Porte had stirred up the Tartars to commit of such a "Nature, as to require some solid Security that they "shall not be repeated hereafter; that she was therefore "determined not to sheath the Sword she had drawn a-"gainst the Turks, unless the Grand Signior will engage "his Word to the mediating Powers to perform scrupu-"lously all that shall be regulated in this Affair." 'Tis assured that Thamas Kouli Kan has declared to the Porte, that he will not conclude any Peace wherein Russia is not a Party.

They write from Hanover, that the King of Sweden in the new Treaty which he has concluded with our Court agrees to furnish 6000 Hessian Forces, when wanted, on the same Terms as are settled with Denmark. Count Kinski has assured his Majesty, on the Part of the Emperor, that he will pay all possible Regard to his Instances for the Revocation of the Fourth Article in the Treaty of Ryswick. This Article is so extremely injurious to the Protestant Religion, that the Pope slickies hard for its Continuance by his Agents at all the Catholick Courts in Europe. Count Pomatowski, a Polish Grandee, is arrived at Hanover, to pay a Visit to the King, and had the Honour to dine with his Majesty.

They write from Frankfort, that the Gang of Highwaymen which have for a long Time infested that Country, and the Neighbourhood of the Rhine, have lately chosen themselves a Chief, and given him the Title of Generalissimo: That he has since published a Manifesto, inviting every one to join him, demanding Contributions of the Country, and threatning all that refuse with Fire and Destruction. This remarkable Personage was preferred to his Post, not by Cabals, but on Account of his extraordinary Qualifications, being the most wicked Fellow on Earth, and had made Murder and Robbery his Profession upwards of 50 Years. The Habitation of these Banditti is in the Bishoprick of Bamberg and Marquisate of Barieth, where they have Caves and Subterraneous Places that are inaccessible

August 12 By Yesterday's French Mail we have Advice, That his Most Christian Majesty, at the Request of the State of Genoa, has issued out an Ordinance, strictly forbidding all Captains, Masters and Owners of Ships, upon any Pretence whatsoever, to aid or assist the Rebels in Corsica, by taking on board their Vessels any Cannon, Arms, Ammunition, Provisions, Money, or any thing whatever, against the Interest of the said Republick. It also orders all French Ships, that in a way of Trade shall touch at the Island of Corsica to put into no Port but those at Bastia, Ajaccio and Boniface, and forbids all Corsican Ships to enter into any Port of France, without a Passport from the State of Genoa, or Commissioners appointed by them
